Nations Ruling Europe In Combination Against Poland Typhus Epidemic

Large Sums Are Pledged By Allied Countries To Control Disease And Prevent Its Spread

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, December 7.—A French official report of today's proceedings of the League of Nations Assembly says:

"The Assembly today unanimously adopted the Report on the relation of the Council to the Assembly.

"The proposal of M. Motta (Switzerland) in favor of relief for children of war-stricken countries was referred to a Commission.

"Sir George Foster (Canada) presented his report on typhus in Poland and Western Europe. The League has appealed for £2,000,000 towards the campaign against this scourge. Fourteen countries have promised subscriptions, but the majority laid down as a condition that other States should contribute at the same time. Canada promised aid unconditionally.

INDIA PROTECTED

The Maharajah of Nawanagar declared that his country was protected against typhus by the climate, but, he said, it had experienced the horror of other epidemics, entailing grave political and social consequences. The Maharajah remarked that he had had only arrived a few days ago to represent the Indian princes and had only known of the campaign against typhus since four days. He added that he would forward an appeal to the Indian Princes, which, he hoped, would be successful.

"Dr. Nansen (Norway) said he thought it would be possible to find the money sought by the League "through personal contact" with the various governments. He therefore proposed the appointment of a committee of not more than three members to take action in the matter before the end of the present session of the Assembly.

FUNDS SUBSCRIBED

"M. Hanotaux (France) supported Dr. Nansen's proposal and read a note from the French Government, stating that France promised to subscribe £50,000, when four other Powers contributed the same. The French Government was now asking the Chamber for a first credit of 1,000,000 francs for the immediate fitting-up of twenty health stations in Poland.

"Mr. Balfour (British Empire) recalled the fact that the British Government had promised £50,000 on the same conditions as France: Great Britain had now decided to give the money unconditionally, Mr. Balfour announced.

"The Persian delegate called attention to the spread of typhus in Persia as in other countries bordering on Russia. Persia would now give £2,000 for the anti-typhus campaign in Poland, but the delegate hoped that Parliament would vote a further contribution.

CHINA WILL DO ITS PART

"Jonkeer Loudon (Holland) declared that Holland would subscribe unconditionally.

"Dr. Wellington Koo (China) remarked that this was the first occasion on which he had addressed the Assembly. Poland, he said, was a far cry from China, but China considered that all men were brothers; China would give £2,000.

"Senor Palacios (Spain) said that after the declarations of France and Great Britain, the time was evidently near when Spain would pay the £40,000 she had promised.

PADEREWSKI RESPONDS

"M. Paderewski expressed thanks on behalf of Poland.

"M. Take Jonesco (Rumania) declared that Roumania had fallen a victim to typhus just as much as Poland, but Rumania would contribute her share.

"The Chairman of the Assembly, M. Hymans, summing up the discussion, voiced the general impression produced by the moving utterances of speakers, representing the most diverse countries, which testified to an unanimous solidarity on the necessity of alleviating suffering."

AMERICA PLANS TRADE EXPANSION

Secretary Of State Asks Three Millions To Aid Department Experts

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Dec. 7.—The Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Representatives which is investigating the agricultural situation has approved a resolution directing the revival of the War Finance Corporation, and also directing the Federal Reserve Board to extend liberal credit to farmers.

Mr. Bainbridge Colby, the Secretary of State, is asking Congress to increase by nearly $3,000,000 the appropriation for the State Department.

He explains that America is finding itself in keen commercial competition with other nations, which are reviving after the war, and intensifying their efforts to gain fresh foreign markets, seize the markets formerly controlled by enemy Powers, and attain a high degree of economic production. An adequate staff of technical experts is therefore, he says, needed in the American foreign service.

FRENCH COUNCIL ACTS TONIGHT ON UTILITIES ISSUE

Today Marks End Of Two-Month's Period Allowed Tram Company

Today marks the end of the two-months period allowed by the French Municipal Council for the French Tramways Company to accede to demands made by the Municipality for better service on the trams and from the water and electricity departments. At a meeting of the Council to be held tonight it is expected that the Council will vote to take over the company. This was the alternative given in the ultimatum issued to the Company two months ago today.

The decision of the Council and subsequent action by the acting Consul-General for France, M. Reau, is causing widespread interest, not only in the Concession but in the International Settlement, for improvements in the Settlement have been exploited in attacks made on the methods employed by the French Company. M. Reau has the power of veto over the Council.

BRITISH SILVER EXPORTS NOT TO BE RESTRICTED

Empire's Trade In China Unhampered, Says Secretary Of Treasury

BALDWIN IN PLEDGE

Secretary Of Treasury To Safeguard Business In Far East

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 7.—In the committee stage of the Gold and Silver Bill in the House of Commons, Mr. Samuel Samuel moved an amendment, which received strong support, proposing to omit silver from the scope of the bill, in the interests of British trade with China.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin, Secretary to the Treasury, although opposing the amendment, undertook that when the bill became law the Government would place restrictions as far as silver was concerned only on the export of coin.

EXPORTS UNTRAMMELED

There would, he said, be no restrictions on the export of silver bullion.

It might be many years before any restriction on silver bullion became necessary, but, as we were living in uncertain times, it was necessary that the Government should have powers to deal with emergencies.

Mr. Samuel's amendment was rejected by 105 votes to 53.

CREDIT AFFECTED

Major-General Sir Newton Moore moved a further amendment, providing that any gold and silver imported after the passing of the Act might be re-exported at any time. He argued that, otherwise, the result of the Act would be that no new gold would enter the country, and this would be disastrous to the credit of trade and finance, while England would cease to be the gold market of the world.

Mr. Baldwin refused to accept this amendment, but promised to insert a clause empowering the Government to make special agreements with the British Colonies and Dominions, under which gold imported from them might be re-exported.

PEACE IN ERIN RESTS ON STAND OF REBEL BAND

Father O'Flannagan Ready To Adopt Reasonable Position To End Hostilities

GOVERNMENT IS BEATEN

Lord Askwith Carries His Opposition To Crown Colony Clause Of Home Rule

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 7.—The Irish situation seems to be rapidly changing in the direction of peace. Indeed there is a profuse display of olive branches.

It is clear that the Government will lose no time in replying to Father O'Flannagan when once it has ascertained that he is able to speak for Sinn Feiners. Important developments are expected after an interview between Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Arthur Henderson today.

Much depends upon whether the murder gang will allow Father O'Flannagan and other peace-seekers to pursue the path of negotiation.

EXTREMISTS MAKE THREATS

These peace efforts have already provoked threats from the extremists whose activities are, however, counterbalanced by an undoubted general desire for peace among the mass of the Irish people.

The Government was again defeated in the House of Lords last night when an amendment to the Home Rule Bill introduced by Lord Askwith was carried against the Government by 51 votes to 50.

Lord Askwith motion was for the deletion of clause 70 of the Bill, which lays down that if either of the two proposed parliaments has not been properly constituted then the South or North of Ireland, as the case may be, shall be governed as a Crown Colony.

London, Dec. 6.—Mr. Arthur Henderson, M. P., the head of the labor party's mission to Ireland, has returned to London. He declared to an interviewer that the desire for peace had never been so strong and widespread among all classes in Ireland as it was at present. He strongly urged that official negotiations

Sets World Record In Hunger-Striking As Mercury Slumps

Another world's record in hunger-striking was placed on the annals yesterday at Central Police station. So far as data at hand can show honors for the shortest strike go to Basil Kehaoglon, of undetermined nationality, who is being held for trying to travel with a stolen ticket on a Canadian Pacific liner.

The weather man conspired to wreck Basil's starvation program. He had been fasting since court proceedings of last Tuesday, but when the mercury was at its faintest ebb yesterday somebody passed the cell with a plate of steaming soup.

CONSUMERS ON STRIKE IN U. S. AGAINST PRICES

Federal Reserve Board Declares Lower Charges Alone Can Check Depression

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, December 6.—No hope of early belief from the present business depression is held out in the monthly statement of the Federal Reserve Board. Depression, it states, exists in most countries, one of the basic causes being a "consumers' strike,"—and evident public determination "to wait for prices to come down."

Manufacturing activities continued to fall off during November, and a wave of reduction sales by retailers failed to result in increased buying. Favorable elements for the immediate future, referred to are the improvement of transportation and the easing of credit conditions.

Exports were tolerably well maintained with the result that a large movement of staples to European ports occurred.

CONSTANTINE IN WARLIKE STAND AS HE RETURNS

Former King Declares Army Is Ready To Back Him In Any Action

(French Wireless Service)

Paris, Dec. 7.—The total vote of the plebiscite in Greece, which will certainly be favorable to Constantine, is not yet known. The Entente notes appear to have deeply embarrassed the Greek Government.

It is announced furthermore, that the convocation of the Chamber will be delayed for a month in order to avoid discussions which might give the minority an opportunity of pointing out the dangers of the Government's policy.

Interviewed at Lucerne by a Havas correspondent, ex-King Constantine asserted: "My soldiers are prepared to defend the national heritage of Greece as well as the interests of the Entente, which, by the Treaty of Sevres, are closely united with those of Greece. My greatest desire is to clear up all misunderstandings and to prove my loyalty to the Entente."

Theft Exemption Licences Will Be Issued No More

In spite of the increasing prevalence of jazz bands and the rapid approach of Parisian costumes toward the ultimate there is a lot of people who remain unconvinced that the millenium impends. Among these are Woo Vung-tsz and Lee Dzangfah, who believe that the world, particularly that portion of it bordering on the Hongkew Creek, is too wicked for any immediate deluge of happiness, harps and halos.

Woo and Lee are boatmen, plying between various given points, but carrying cargo principally to places along the Hongkew Creek. The other day five or six men boarded Woo's craft very officiously.

HA, HA, THE LICENSE!

"Where's your license?" demanded a large, gruff member of the party.

"What license?" asked Woo.

"Your theft exemption license, of course," snapped the other.

Woo said he'd never even heard of such a license. Was it a new Municipal regulation, or what?

The spokesman of the boarding party said that it had nothing to do with the Municipality and curtly explained that it was like this: Woo had better take out a license; he could take out a daily license, paying out 30 cents per diem, or he could take out a monthly license, costing $1 net. This license exempted him from the depredations of thieves. Any time any thieves came aboard his ship, no matter what time of day or night, if he would produce his license they would have to go peacefully and empty handed away. But if he did not take out a license, oh, boy! the things that would most probably happen to his cargo.

THEN THE COP CAME

Woo said he would like a little time to think it over and went and saw his friend Lee, whose boat was nearby. Lee said he had just invested in a license, and showed it to Woo. It was a very small license and did not seem impressive enough to be effective with even a small group of Hongkew Creek pirates.

So Woo told Faung Doozung, the spokesman, aforementioned, that he didn't think he would invest. At this Faung tried physical argument on the skipper, who yelled for help, and a policeman appeared and took Faung into custody. On the way to the station Faung suddenly jerked the C.P.C. into an alleyway, snatched his whistle and broke for freedom. He had miscalculated the C.P.C.'s lungpower, however, and the latter's shouts brought another constable running up in time to intercept the fugitive.

After some grilling at the station Faung agreed to assist the authorities and led them to a house on Hanbury Road where they found Wei Foh-dzung seated behind a sort of accountant's desk, evidently ready to issue licenses to all applicants, Van Siau-sz, Yang Ah-pau and Wei Sih-ching—all members of Woo's calling party and likewise identified by Lee as the men who had supplied him with his permit.

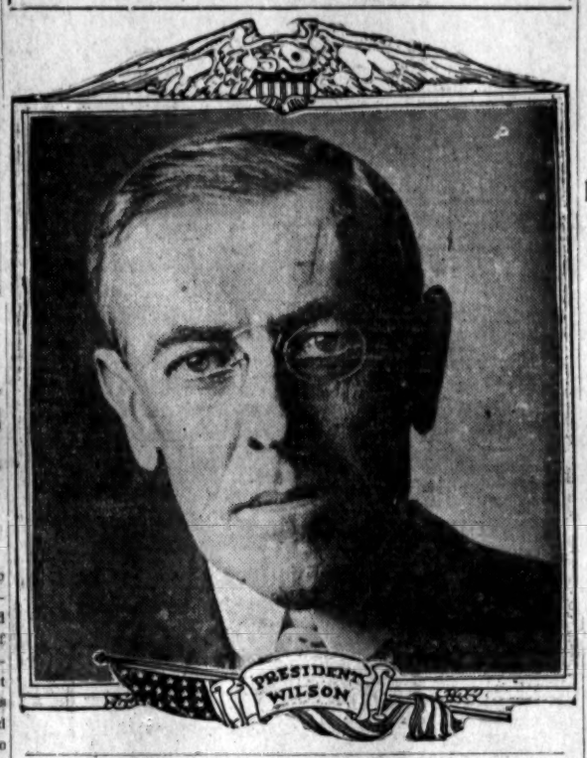
AND NOW IN COURT

Yesterday the five appeared in the Mixed Court and their revenue bureau was put out of business. Faung got a year, with three months added by reason of his treatment of the policeman. Wei drew the same, while Van and Yang will be innocuously unemployed for nine moons each and Wei—it having been discovered that this was his fifth visit in court—won't have any engagements to worry him for two whole years.

The police claim that all five were members of the exclusive but persistent "36 Gang," about 200 members of which have been interned during the past couple of years.

FREE PHILIPPINES, CONGRESS IS URGED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Humanity's Champion



AID ARMENIA PLEA OF U.S. CHIEF ON EVE OF HIS EXIT

Executive Unable To Appear In Person For Admonition To Lawmakers Before He Retires From White House

(Special Cable)

Washington, Dec. 7.—President Wilson's concrete recommendations in his annual message to Congress included the revision of existing tax laws, the simplification of the income and excess profits taxes, the granting of independence to the Philippine Islands, a loan to Armenia, the exercise of economy in Government appropriations and expenditures, creating workable budget systems, the enactment of cold storage and other laws affecting the cost of living and the rehabilitation and training of disabled soldiers and sailors, though he did not endorse the bonus.

The President did not refer to the League of Nations or the Peace Treaty fight except, perhaps, an inference at the opening of his message when he quoted Lincoln, saying:

"Let us have faith that right makes might and in that faith let us do our best as we understand it."

CONFESSION OF FAITH

Closing, the President wrote in a paragraph saying:

"I have not so much laid before you a series of recommendations as I have sought to utter a confession of faith in which I was bred and which it is my solemn purpose to stand by until my last fighting day.

"I believe this to be the faith of America, the faith of the future and of all victories which await national action in the days to come whether in America or elsewhere. Democracy is being put upon the final test.

"This is the time of all others when democracy should prove its purity and its spiritual power to prevail. It is surely the manifest destiny of the United States to lead in the attempt to make this spirit prevail."

President Wilson mentioned two ways in which the United States can assist to accomplish that object. First, by offering an example within its own borders, of the will and power of democracy to make and enforce laws which are unquestionably just and which are equal in their administration.

Second, by standing for right and justice in its acts towards individual nations, saying:

MUST REMAIN CHAMPION

"The United States can not refuse the role of champion without putting the stigma of rejection upon the great, devoted men who brought its Government into existence."

The message was transmitted to Congress by means of messenger, the President not attending.

Concerning the Philippines, the message said:

"Allow me to call your attention to the fact that the people of the Philippines have succeeded in maintaining a stable Government, and have thus fulfilled the conditions set by Congress. This was a precedent to the consideration of the granting of independence to the Islands. I respectfully submit that this condition of precedent having been fulfilled it is now our liberty and our duty to keep our promise to the people of those Islands by granting to them independence, which they so honorably covet."

The message was 2,000 words long.

HARDING CHEERED

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Dec. 6.—Congress was opened today. Senator Harding was present in the Senate, and was greeted with applause. In response to this ovation he made a brief speech, in which he forecasted a period of closer and more friendly co-operation between the White House and Congress.

WANTS SPECIAL SESSION

Washington, Dec. 7.—Senator Harding has stated that during his conference with members of the Senate he asked the Senators to proceed with all the Appropriation Bills as rapidly as possible, in order to finish them and clear the decks for a special session of Congress, which would be held as soon as possible after March 4.

Aborigines In China To Be Studied By "Missing Link Expedition" Here

American Scientists To Delve Into Mystery Of Living Tribes In Far East While Unearthing Ancients' Bones

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Dec. 4 (by mail).—The expedition sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History, which will set forth for China next February, will search not only for fossils of the ape-man, regarded by biologists as the "missing link" in the chain of evolution, but will study the aboriginal tribes now said to be fast disappearing in China.

"We know as little about some of the living natives as about the fossil history of the country," says Mr. Roy Chapman Andrews who will lead the expedition. "Long before the Chinese arrived, China was inhabited by aboriginal tribes, which were pushed south and west, just as the Indians were driven westward by white men who advanced across the American Continent.

"Remnants of nearly 30 of these tribes, such as Lolos, Mosos, Lisos and others are rapidly disappearing, and the expedition expects to study them before they become extinct."

HUNTS ABORIGINES

Describing these aborigines, with whom he has hunted, Mr. Andrews said they are totally unlike Chinese, having tall and slender bodies, long faces, patrician noses, and other characteristics of Caucasian blood.

Mr. Andrews says that scientific men are now agreed in the belief that the oldest prehistoric remains of man and of many beasts, lie somewhere within the Great Central Asiatic Plateau, where few white men have ever penetrated.

One of the reasons why little is known of China's fossils and those of interior Asia is that material of this sort is carefully concealed by the Chinese, who term the relics "dragon's bones," and use them for medicinal purposes, said Mr. Andrews.

SEEK MISSING LINK

One result expected is the education of Americans in a knowledge of the immense continent across the Pacific. Whether success or failure meets the attempt to find the "missing link," hundreds of thousands of specimens of Asiatic animal and plant life are to be collected and brought to America. These it is planned to place in the proposed $1,000,000 Hall of Asiatic Life in this city.

Headquarters for the exposition are to be at Peking. The work of the expedition is to continue for five years. The first year will be devoted to studies in palaeontology and zoology in China.

The second year the work is to be carried into Mongolia, with geologists added to the field staff. Then for the next three years the entire force will be scattered in widespread sections of Asia.

U.S. Soldiers Led Into War By German Traitor

(Special Cable)

New York, Dec. 7.—Extraordinary disclosures of his mission to the United States as a spy for the German Government were given in the alleged confession of John Willers, an ex-Captain of company 1, 48th United States infantry, and an alleged thief and deserter. He was arrested tonight charged with absconding with $5,000 of the company's funds in December, 1918, while the regiment was stationed at Camp Sevier, Greenville, Smith Carolina.

Willer told the police that he was sent to America as one of the 300 cadets trained to act in the German espionage by enlisting in the United States army.

He said that he had received instructions to act as a loyal American and to take no action until he had reached the War zone. He told the Police that he could have led the whole company to slaugter and when he was reminded that he too would have been killed he declared, "what of that, thousands die the same way."

Nagasaki, Dec. 8.—The typhoon which has struck the South of Japan is reported to have caused heavy damage at the Kure Naval Station. The Osaka newspapers and business houses are cut off from Tokio.

"GOLD ORE" CASE IS CONCLUDED

Additional Charge Placed Against Man Accused Of Fraudulent Deal

The so-called "gold ore" case was concluded yesterday in the Mixed Court before Assessor Hutchison and Magistrate Yui, after an additional charge had been placed against the defendant, Zung Chimen. Judgment is to be given in the case Friday morning.

The original charge against the defendant is that he secured possession of 25 tons of gold ore, valued at Tls. 6,000, by means of false pretenses, having proffered worthless checks. Yesterday Mr. Tavares, appearing for Zang Mangisa, further charged that defendant had secured 100 piculs of camphor from his client.

Counsel stated that a contract was entered into for sale of the campher at Tls. 83 per picul. The defendant had put off taking delivery by stating that he had no room in his godown and when the goods were finally delivered Zung stated that it was too late in the day to issue a bank order and gave a receipt which was to be returned for payment in the morning. After trying unavailingly to locate Zung for two days, the complainant found that the camphor had been sold to a foreign firm at $65.

Three days after receiving the cargo defendant filed a petition in bankruptcy and counsel contended that he must therefore have had this in contemplation when the camphor transaction was arranged. Mr. Tavares stated that there were over $100,000 in civil claims against the defendant.

Mr. Goldring represented the original complainant and Mr. Bryan the defendant.

Woman's Club Gives Folk Music Program

Address On Famine In North Delivered At Meeting By Bishop Lambuth

The entire program of folk music and folk dancing presented at Tuesday's meeting of The American Woman's Club was made up of novel features that evoked one round of applause after another from the gathering. The program was given as announced save for the absence of Mrs. N. Mathieson who could not attend due to illness. Mrs. R. I. Clapp, first Vice-President of the club, presided and Mrs. Haines and Mrs. Robson were hostesses.

The Misses Helen Morse and Loraine Fleming were wholly charming in costumes for the minuet number and the dancing of the Misses Olive Crane and Leonora Bernard literally brought down the house. The Misses Virginia and Claire Sullivan in sailor garb and doing the hornpipe brought forth unstinted applause.

A vivid and gripping account of conditions in the stricken famine districts was given by Bishop Lambuth, who has recently returned from the north. Telling of the appalling conditions confronting whole districts whose populations are dying for want of food he said that not only are the people trying to subsist on roots and grasses, but they have scraped away the alfalfa to such an extent that fields are torn up behind them. Children, he said, have vanished from many villages because they have been sold or killed. So many have been thrown into wells, he added, that in a number of places these sources of water supply have became polluted. Populations will perish before May, he asserted, if aid in the shape of funds is not at once forthcoming.

Peace In Erin Rests On Stand Of Rebel Band

should be opened for an armistice.

ARRESTS AND TRUCE

London, Dec. 6.—By a curious irony, when the members of the Dublin Corporation were arrested two resolutions were under discussion, the first of which urged that all well-disposed persons should call a truce for one month, for the purpose of promoting peace and good-will among all sections, and proposed the establishment of a committee to pursue a policy of reconciliation, while the second called on all parties to cease outrages and work for peace.

London, Dec. 6.—The two directors and editor of the Freeman's Journal who were acquitted of four previous charges of publishing false reports, calculated to cause disaffection, in connection with the Tullow murders, have now been found guilty on two charges of a similar nature.

DEMANDS ARRESTS

London, Dec. 7.—Loud cheers greeted the emphatic declaration by Mr. Bonar Law in the House of Commons this afternoon that "There can be no truce, or successful advocacy of a truce, with Ireland until the extreme leaders of the Irish Republican Army have surrendered or been arrested."

This statement was made in reply to protests by Mr. Devlin against the arrest of six members of the Dublin City Council yesterday, on the ground that this action would make peace in Ireland impossible.

In reply to another question on this subject, Sir Hamar Greenwood emphasised that the arrests had been carried out with the greatest consideration. All who had been arrested were members of the Irish Republican Army.

Mr. Bonar Law stated further that no reply had yet been sent to the telegram from Father O'Flanagan.

Chinese Population More Than Tripled In Twenty-Five Years

The Chinese population of the Foreign Settlement, exclusive of Frenchtown, has more than tripled since 1895 and now stands at 759,839, according to figures published in this week's Municipal Gazette.

The report gives the number of Chinese, males, females and children, in each district of the Settlement and compares them with the figures for the years 1895, 1900, 1915, 1910 and 1915. Since 1915 the Chinese population has grown from 620,401 to the present number.

Nations Ruling Europe In Combination Against Poland Typhus Epidemic

tion) which was drawn up by M. Viviani and Mr. Rowell (Canada).

Lord Robert Cecil maintained that the Council must always have the chief executive power, but said that the African and Australian delegations would not vote on the report unless Articles three and four of the Covenant, which diminished the competency of the Assembly, were to be modified. M. Viviani recognised the possibility of difficulties between the Council and the Assembly, but said he relied on a general spirit of good will and upon the mixed commission proposed by Mr. Balfour, to settle them.

Mr. Rowell exhorted the members to trust to the Covenant, which allowed a certain measure of elasticity in the relations between the Council and the Assembly. It was impossible, he pointed out, to give the Assembly powers which were not provided in the Covenant.

Sir William Meyer (India) urged that the question of powers must be clearly defined in order to avoid an unfavorable impression among oriental countries, but withdrew his amendment to this effect after Mr. Rowell's explanation.

Geneva, Dec. 7.—The South American delegates to the League of Nations gave a luncheon yesterday in honor of the members of the French delegation. The Argentine delegate, Senor Pueyrredon, was among those present.

The gathering was the occasion of a warm demonstration of Franco-American friendship.

Senor Blanco (Uruguay) welcomed the French representatives, and Senor Octavio (Brazil) seconded him with an address which met with much applause.

M. Leon Bourgeois compared Argentina with the pilot who ascends above the clouds, yet aims at the same objectives as the infantry; and Senor Pueyrredon, continuing the metaphor, replied that it would be wrong not to heed the information reported by the pilot. He concluded with a fine tribute to "France Eternal."

DRUG QUESTION UP

The Cabinet has compiled a list of cases together with dates of the importation of morphia and other narcotic drugs by Japanese into China. The list will be sent to the League of Nations in Geneva where G. Ariyoshi, former Japanese Minister to Peking and now delegate to the league, is accusing China of being incapable of suppressing the opium traffic.

Geneva, Dec. 7.—Except as regards the word "exclusive," the League of Nations Assembly adopted the report of the Commission on the powers of the Assembly and Council respectively. This was to be effect that "the Assembly shall have no power to reverse or modify a decision falling within the exclusive competence of the Council, and the same respect must be shown by the Council for the decisions of the Assembly."

The question of the inclusion of the word "exclusive" was referred to a special commission.

New Appointments Are Made In Council

To fill the vacancies created by the resignations from the Municipal Council of Messrs. D. Goh and W. P. Lambe the following appointments to office and to membership of Committees have been made and are announced in the Municipal Gazette:

Vice-Chairman of Council, Mr. E. F. Mackay; Watch Committee, Mr. H. G. Simms; Finance Committee, Mr. S. Sakuragi; Health Committee, Mr. S. Fessenden; Permanent Education Committee, Mr. H. G. Simms.

What MILTON is and what it DOES

You have nothing to-day with which to compare Milton. It is not a "cure all," yet in one bottle of Milton you obtain an article which will perform more than 101 every-day services—services for which you to-day buy a dozen or more different preparations. Milton does every one of these thoroughly, reliably, quickly. To be able to perform so many widely varying services, Milton must, of course, be a powerful fluid. It is powerful. But (and this is perhaps its most astonishing feature) it is absolutely harmless, perfectly safe. It can be used freely, or the bottle may be left standing about without the least anxiety. For Milton, although it is so powerful and effective, is non-poisonous; it will not burn or stain the hands or skin; it will not take fire or explode; it is clear and clean; and what little smell it has disappears almost immediately after use. Among the many uses of Milton are—

For preventing cold in the head, influenza and winter ailments.
For destroying bad smells.
For removing stains without injury even to the most delicate fabrics.
For use as a mouth wash, dentifrice and nasal douche.
For freshening the air after tobacco smoke.
For eliminating all vermin.

This sounds almost unbelievable, but a trial very quickly convinces. And isn't it worth trying? If in one bottle you can have a safe, harmless but powerful fluid which can be of service to you in so many different ways, can you afford to be without it? The cost is so small to become convinced. An a bottle lasts a long time—it is economical. Get a bottle to-day. You will be astonished at the results.

Shanghai Hotels, Limited, Making Capital $1,125,922

Resolutions to reorganise the Shanghai Hotels, Ltd., and to increase the capital to $1,125,922.- by the creation of 100,000 additional ordinary shares of $7.50 each was passed at an extraordinary general meeting of the company yesterday.

Mr. Brodie A. Clarke, chairman of the board of directors, presided. Among the directors present were Mr. Edward I. Ezra, Mr. N. Hay Bolton, Mr. R. N. Macleod, legal advisor and Mr. E. Arrows, secretary. The number of founders shares represented was 106, while that of ordinary was 35,733.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

The secretary having read the notice of the meeting, the chairman said:

"The purpose of this extraordinary general meeting as notified to the shareholders in a circular letter dated November 30, is to obtain your sanction to a reorganisation of the capital of the company.

"In my address to you at the extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders in July, as well as the annual general meeting in March, I emphasised the expected development of the company's business and the necessity, therefore, of being fully prepared to meet future requirements. The enormous increase in our business has more than ever confirmed the directors' opinion that the erection of a large and modern hotel in Shanghai would be indispensable in the near future and it is therefore, with considerable pleasure that I can report excellent progress in the preparation of the plans in connection with our new hotel to be erected opposite the Race Course, the plans of which are practically now complete.

"During recent years the company's undertaking has very considerably outgrown its capitalisation, with the result that balance sheets for these years have been rather misleading. Instead of paying larger dividends the company has been compelled to meet developments out of profits and this as you will readily see cannot go indefinitely; hence the directors are convinced that the time has arrived for the company to be properly established, and on a basis that will ensure development.

RECONSTRUCT COMPANY

"This can only be done by a thorough reconstruction of the company; a matter to which your directors have devoted much time and thought during past months. The principal difficulty with which we have had to contend has been the question of the founders' shares in the company. These shares, as you are doubtless aware, will participate with the ordinary in an equal division of the profits after the company has paid an accumulative dividend of 12 percent, which it is obvious will be within a year or two. In other words, 123 founders' will be equal in value at that time to 50,000 ordinary, and therefore, we have had to very carefully consider the proposed reconstruction from the founders' standpoint. I am happy to say that the principal holders of founders' have agreed that it would be advisable to eliminate this class of share entirely and to give in exchange ordinary shares of an equivalent value. The question then arises, what compensation would be acceptable to the founders' without prejudicing the rights of the ordinary shareholders? As I have previously stated, the founders' participation can now be only a matter of a few years, and since then they will then be entitled to no less than one half of any profits divided, it would seem that the resolution before the meeting would provide an equitable arrangement.

"This it is proposed to do by alloting them ordinary shares in the proportion of 199 to each founders' share. As you will see from the circular, a dividend to be applied in the allotment of these ordinary shares will be paid to the founders' out of the profits of the current year. The original founders' shares will then in all respects rank equally with the ordinary shares. In this manner the ordinary shareholders will be safeguarded against future division of profits with the founders', whilst the founders' will have an immediate association with the profits of the company.

100,000 MORE SHARES

"As you will see it is proposed to create 100,000 additional shares of $7.50 each, of which, after the allotment to the founders', there will remain 75,523 shares to be issued at not less than $50 each, when any future development is contemplated.

"The directors feel sure that you will agree that this agreement is fair to both founders' and ordinary, and there can be no doubt that with a proper valuation of our assets and a revised balance sheet, the company's standing will be materially improved, and we will henceforth be in a position to carry out developments without the difficulties experienced in the past, and with the assurance of material increase in dividends.

"This, Gentlemen, is a brief resume of the various notices and circulars which have been in your possession, and doubtless carefully considered by you during the past week, but before putting the resolutions to the meeting I would welcome the opportunity of explaining any point upon which you may not be clear."

FOUNDERS MEET

No questions being asked, Mr. Clarke adjourned the meeting in order to unable the founders to meet and consider the following resolution:

"That the agreement made the 30th of November, 1920 between the company of the one part and Edward Isaac Ezra on behalf of the holders of founders' shares in the company of the other part whereby it is agreed that the rights and privileges attached to the said founders' shares shall be modified in accordance with the provisions of resolutions set out in a notice convening an extraordinary general meeting of the company to be held on the 8th of December, 1920, be and the said agreement is hereby confirmed."

Mr. Ezra presided over the founders meeting. In his remarks, he said that Mr. Clarke had already explained carefully the proposed resolution in his speech and he only wanted to express the fact that the resolution was fair and reasonable to both the founders and the ordinary shareholders. He then proposed the resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Victor Gensberger. The meeting passed the resolution unanimously.

Upon resumption of the extraordinary general meeting, the resolution, proposed by Mr. Clarke and seconded by Mr. Ezra was again put to vote and unanimously passed.

PASS RESOLUTIONS

The combined meeting then passed the following resolutions which were proposed by Mr. Clarke and seconded by Mr. Ezra:

1.—That the capital of the company be increased to Mexican $1,125,922.50 by the creation of 100,000 additional ordinary shares of $7.50 each.

2.—That 24,477 of such additional shares shall be applied to the allotment to the holders of founders' shares in the proportion of 199 of such additional ordinary shares to every existing founders' share held by them respectively in accordance with the new Article 135 (a) set out in the proposed resolution 4 (c.)

3.—That the remaining additional ordinary shares shall be issued at such time and upon such terms and conditions as the directors shall deem expedient provided that they shall not be issued for less than $50 each.

4.—That the articles of association be altered in manner following:

(a) Articles 4 5 6 7 shall be cancelled.

(b) The following articles shall be substituted for article 89, namely, "Upon a show of hands every member present in person and every proxy present who is not a member shall have one vote and upon a poll every member present in person or by proxy shall have one vote for every share held by him."

(c) The following article shall be substituted for article 135 namely:

"(a) Out of the net profits of the company for the year 1920 the holders of founders' shares shall be entitled to the sum of $183,577.50 by way of dividend but such sum shall not be paid to or distributed among them but shall be applied to the subscription at par of 24,477 ordinary shares and such shares shall be allotted to the holders of founders' shares in the proportion of 199 ordinary shares to each founders' share."

"(b) Subject as aforesaid the profits of the Company shall be divisible among the members in proportion to the capital amount paid up on the shares held by them respectively."

(d) The following article shall be substituted for article 175, namely, "If the company shall be wound up and the assets available for distribution among the members as such shall be insufficient to repay the whole of the paid up capital such assets shall be distributed so that as nearly as may be the losses shall be borne by the members in proportion to the capital paid up or which ought to have been paid up on at the commencement of the winding up on the shares held by them respectively. And if in a winding up the assets available for distribution among the members shall be more than sufficient to repay the whole of the capital paid up at the commencement of the winding up the excess shall be distributed amongst the members in proportion to the capital at the commencement of the winding up paid up or which ough to have been paid up on the shares held by them respectively. But this clause is to be without prejudice to the rights of the holders of shares issued upon special terms and conditions under the provisions of article 58."

5.—That the 123 founders' shares in the company of $7.50 each be reorganised and consolidated into one class with the ordinary shares and rank as regards dividend capital voting and otherwise in all respects pari passu with the ordinary shares.

The last two resolutions were passed as extraordinary resolutions upon advice of the legal advisor.

All the resolutions passed at the meeting will now be submitted for confirmation as special resolutions to a further extraordinary general meeting which will be held on Thursday December 23 at the office headquarters.

A vote of thanks to the chairman proposed by Mr. Ezra concluded the meeting.

ADVERTISING CLUB TO AID CAMPAIGN FOR FAMINE RELIEF

Organisation Will Help Raise Money Through Publicity Schemes

DISCUSS SALE OF MILK

Regular Meeting Held When Members Decribe Methods Of Marketing Goods

An appropriation of $2,500 has been made by the International Famine Relief Committee to the Advertising Club for advertising purposes, according to the announcement made yesterday by Mr. B. Saunders, secretary of the club at its meeting at the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. A. R. Rowe of the British-American Tobacco Company will be in charge of copy which will be inserted in newspapers, printed in the form of posters or screened by lantern slides. Mr. Rowe will also accept copy suitable for advertising the famine conditions in the North from members of the club. He will approach the leading firms in Shanghai to ask them to donate space in the local newspapers.

Mr. Carl Crow will be in charge of the posters and Mr. S. P. Westaway of the Standard Oil Company of New York will take care of the window dressing and lantern slides.

DISCUSS SALE OF MILK

After the business meeting, a paper prepared by Mr. T. Y. Chang of the China Products Company, was read by Mr. Saunders. The club had undertaken to discuss the best methods of pushing the sale of a hypothetical brand of tinned milk named "Triangle" and Mr. Chang was assigned the work of outlining the campaign.

An educational campaign among the homes of the well-to-do Chinese by means of booklets newspapers and magazines was the method suggested by Mr. Chang. He pointed out that the conversion of a large number of Chinese into milk consumers is essential in order to conduct the campaign effectively.

After discussing seven kinds of mediums for the campaign namely, newspapers, magazines bill-posting, handbills, bill-boards parades and personal appeals the author selected the last as the most effective for the club's brand of milk and suggested that this direct appeal be used as the main feature of the publicity campaign, while a judicious use of the newspaper and magazine columns is also recommended.

DISTRIBUTE BOOKLETS

Nicely gotten up, well-printed and bound, profusely illustrated booklets, calendars, circulars and catalogues are considered effective in this campaign. Mr. Chang further said that the booklet while it should not be over-burdened with technical descriptions of the milk products, it should contain useful hints and information not exactly connected with the preparation of the milk food.

"In a neway way," said the speaker, "the book may tell the would-be consumer how the products are prepared, how people of other lands enjoy the use of similar products and how the products can be served to delight the guests."

MAKE IT POPULAR

In starting the campaign, Mr. Chang suggested that the consumption of the milk product be made popular. He would launch the campaign with a "Triangle Week," on the first day when the distribution begins. A sufficient number of stores should be stocked and they will aid the campaign by special window exhibits and counter displays.

These efforts and a judicious use of the advertising columns of the dailies and magazines would be sufficient to call the public's attention to the campaign, according to Mr. Chang. The most expensive part of the campaign however, Mr. Chang wrote would be the actual demonstration of the preparation and consumption of the milk and to encourage the public to taste the new products.

SINO-JAPANESE PACT WILL BE BROKEN, RUMOR

Ten Days Limit Is Placed On Life Of Present Treaty By Observers

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Dec. 8.—It is expected in official circles that the Sino-Japanese Military Pact will be cancelled within the next ten days. As it now stands it consists of the original agreement between the two countries, with an extension between the Chief of Staff of the frontier defense force and the Japanese military delegates.

The Chinese War Ministry will declare the abolition of this extension, after which the Waichiaopu will officially declare the cancellation of the original pact.

The cancellation will probably be effected by an exchange of Notes between the Waichiaopu and the Japanese Legation.

As regards recent reports, the Waichiaopu is not aware of any agreement to replace the pact, and does not think that the military authorities contemplate such a step. It is pointed out that the Waichiaopu's demand for the withdrawal of the Japanese troops from the Chinese Eastern Railway is not connected with the question of the cancellation of the pact, and that the two questions are being dealt with separately.

"The Confession"

When such eminent authorities as James Cardinal Gibbons, and Cardinal Mercier, the heroic Prelate of Belgium, commend and approve a play, it must indeed be of superior quality, and of all things exactly correct as to truthfulness and detail, such approval has been given by both to "The Confession" written by Hal Reid, the author of more successful plays than any other living writer.

"The Confession" will be screened at the Apollo theater tonight.

Mr. Reid has been often asked as to which of his plays he thought the best, and before having written "The Confession" he was at a loss to answer hesitating between his twenty-seven year old success "Human Hearts" which is still playing, and one or two of the others, but now there is no hesitation, the playwright pronouncing "The Confession" to be his best and considering it as the one work of his brain which will perpetuate his name.

As a stage play "The Confession" made a wonderful record, and during its Broadway run an incident occurred which set the entire press of New York City agog, the play was running during Lent, when play going is proscribed, many thousands of the faithful denying themselves amusements during the lenten season. Notwithstanding this Mr. Reid was delighted to have a request for a box to be occupied by Monsignor Lavalle and the then Monsignor Hayes, now the Archbishop of New York.

THE CASE OF MRS. STELLA SHAW

"My sallow, wax-like complexion has become clear and bright," states Mrs. Stella Shaw, of No 808 Columbia street, Hudson, N. Y., U. S. A. who had suffered for years from anaemia until she found the right tonic.

"I hadn't been well for six years," she says, "following an attack of jaundice. I was tired and without ambition all the time. Whenever I would lie down I had severe dizzy spells and seemed to fill up and choke. My appetite was poor and I had pains across my shoulders.

"I had heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills several years ago and and when I saw them mentioned in a newspaper I procured some and began treatment with them. My condition improved so much after the first bottle that I continued taking the pills until I had regained my strength. I no longer become exhausted easily and have plenty of ambition for my work. My appetite is excellent and the pain across my shoulders has gone. I not only feel like myself again but my color no longer causes people to think I am seriously ill."

Anaemia is another name for thin blood. If unchecked it becomes worse and may end in consumption. But it can be combated by the use of the famous Blood-tonic Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. As the blood becomes rich and red under this treatment the symptoms disappear. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are to be had of all chemists, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai, one bottle for $1.50, six bottles $8.00, post free. Write for the free booklet, "Building up the Blood."

DOWLER, FORBES SUIT CONCLUDED

Following presentation of arguments yesterday in the United States Court for China in the case of Dowler, Forbes and Company against the Liberty Steel Products Corporation, an action carrying the allegation of breach of contract and seeking damages in the sum of $95,700, decision was reserved by Judge C. S. Lobingier.

The contention of the plaintiff in the case is based on the charge that an order for 21,000 kegs of steel nails was not carried out. Mr. R. T. Bryan appeared for the plaintiff company and Mr. S. Fessenden for the opposing side. The defense offered was that the contract in question had never been completed as it had not been confirmed by the New York office of the defendant company and in answering this Mr. R. T. Bryan, appearing for Dowler, Forbes and Company urged in his argument the showing made in certain correspondence in which the phrases 'we have confirmed' and 'we have sold' were used. He said also that Mr. P. S. Ericson, salesman who carried on the negotiations, was in fact a qualified selling agent and led the plaintiff to believe he had full authority to make binding contracts.

Mr. Fessenden's argument was based on the contention that as the orders involved in the contract had not been confirmed by the defendant's New York office they could not held to be binding.

AMOY SCHOOLS EASILY WIN PROVINCIAL CHAMPIONSHIP; PLAN ANNUAL MEET IN FUKIEN

Big Surprise When Foochow Scores But 21½ Points Out Of 126; Talmage College Takes Track And Field Title; New Records Made

(China Press Correspondence)

Amoy, November 20.—During the past three days Fukien Provincial championships in track and field, volleyball, football, basketball and tennis have been held here. A total of 352 students took part in the meet, 267 in the Middle School and College meet and 85 picked boys in the Primary School Meet. Of these 267 older students Foochow sent 65 men who had been selected from all of the Foochow student population in a preliminary meet held in Foochow.

Amoy naturally expected to be snowed under because the total population of Foochow and also the student population is many times greater than those of Amoy. Amoyites were very pleasantly surprised, therefore, when the total score showed that Foochow had scored only 21½ points out of a total of 126. Only five of the remaining 104½ points were scored by schools outside of Amoy, those five points being scored by two schools from Changchow.

TALMAGE LEADS

The Amoy schools which did the heaviest scoring in track and field were Talmage College, track and field champions with 28 points; Tung Wen Institute with 25 points; The Government Normal School of Foochow took third place with 18½ points. Then followed Amoy Y. M. C. A. with 15½; Chin Be School of Amoy with 14; Sino-American School of Amoy with 13; Anglo-Chinese College of Amoy with 4; Fukien Christain University of Foochow with 3; and two Changchow schools with 3 and 2 points respectively; ten schools in all winning points in the College meet.

Foochow had nineteen schools in the meet and had three point winners. Amoy had seven schools in the meet and had nineteen point winners.

The Amoy boys are wild with delight as evidenced by the parade of the Talmage College boys throughout the city of Amoy and the Foreign Settlement of Kulangsu across the harbor with a band and a sedan chair decorated with flowers and greenery and with the mammoth silver cup presented by General Li Hok-ki and the relay shields which they had won in the meet.

The one shining light from Foochow was the Government Normal school athlete who took first place in the decathlon and also tied the Amoy Y.M.C.A.'s star athlete for first place in individual points. The Amoy athlete secured the greatest number of firsts, but it was decided to duplicate the prize and present one also to the visitor. Both of these men secured a total of 14½ points with a Chin Be School athlete close on their heels with 13 points and Piping Malcampo taking fourth place in individual honors for Tung Wen Institute of Amoy with 9 points.

NEW RECORDS MADE

Even though rain fell during the greater part of the second and thirn days of the Championships the meet seems to have been a success in many ways. Every event in track and field except the 100 yards dash, the 220 yard dash and the high jump showed up with men who shattered all previous records. In addition to that splendid showing the boys entered into the new events which were added this year and made good showings in each considering the wet condition of the field.

The Championship of the province was decided in volleyball, football and tennis. Tung Wen Institute of Amoy easily carried off the volleyball trophy defeating the Fukien Christian University of Foochow in straight games.

The Anglo-Chinese College team of Amoy defeated the Champion team from Chanchow 1 to 0 in football.

Foochow came through the tennis singles and tennis doubles with flying colors.

A splendid silver cup was presented by the Fukien Commissioner of Education who accompained the team here, to the Tung Wen team for volleyball championship. Another cup was presented by Mr. Lim Kui Siong of Amoy for the football championship won by A. C. College of Amoy and tennis cups were presented to the Foochow winners by the South Fukien Amateur Athletic Association under whose auspices the championships were held. A splendid cup had been prepared for the basketball championship which was being played off between the Foochow Government Normal School and Tung Wen Institute of Amoy. The game was called on account of darkness with the score 10 to 9 in favor of Amoy.

GIRLS ARE ENTERED

Because of the great number of events which had to be run off during the three days it was decided to let each team hold the cup for six months with the understanding that either team could challenge the other to a game at any time with one month's notice to decide the Championship and get the cup presented by General Tsong of Amoy.

In addition to these Championships there were several other attractions very much worth mentioning. Drills by girls schools, boys schools, boy scouts and kindergartens were very much appreciated. The winding of the Maypole by the Reformed Church of America primary school girls, and the basketball game between two teams of girls from the Girls' High School refereed by their principal, Miss Carling, which was played by the girls in their pretty tunics showed that the girls' schools of Amoy are securing modern teaching in their schools which will help fit them for a robust and healthy future life.

A pretty laby show carried on by Mrs. Bradshaw with the assistance in judging of Mrs. Carleton, the U.S. Consul's wife, Mrs. Lim Boon-keng, Mrs. J. M. Howes and two Chinese lady doctors caused much excitement, and even with the rain falling during the whole show there were more than 40 babies out and the three who were presented with silver medals were surely beautiful babies. It so happened that the winning baby was the son of Mr. Ng Chenggiok who did most to prepare the Talmage College boys for their victory in track and field sports. Moving pictures were taken of the meet and also of the winning babies.

DR. GRAY IS REFEREE

Dr. John Henry Gray, the new National Physical director of the Y.M.C.A. who held a like position in India with such splendid results there, was here to referee the meet. We like the man and suggest that others invite him because he likes the Chinese, and they will like him as they learn to know and trust him.

The Taoyin, who was the official representative of General Li Hok-ki gave many banners and gold and silver medals for the schools and athletes. The Nestles Milk Company presented the Baby Show medals and also gave consolation prizes to the tables who failed to take places, in the shape of Nestles' products.

The Japanese consul presented two watches for desk or travelling use, which were presented to the individual point men who tied for first place. Mr. Saw Hiong-chuan a former Tung Wen Athlete sent silver cups which were presented to the winners of the decathlon, 440 yard dash and pole vault. All other prizes including silver cups for tennis, gold, silver and bronze medals for track and field events, solid gold medals for individual point winners, silver medals for the Primary School athletes, most of which went to the Amoy Y.M.C.A. Primary School which won the Primary Meet, and Silver Shields for the College Relay winners were presented by the South Fukien Amateur Athletic Association, the hosts of the meet.

AMERICAN TO GET $300,000 AND FRENCH BOXER $200,000 FIGHTING FOR WORLD'S TITLE

Battle Between Dempsey And Carpentier Will Be Held During Month Of March Or Between May 29 And July 4; From Ten To 15 Rounds

The public signing of the Dempsey-Carpentier articles was held at the Hotel Claridge, New York with the ceremonies as impressive as they could be made on one-half of 1 percent. The only untoward incident was the giving of the air to Abe Attell, who showed up at the count of 3 o'clock to get into the picture. Abe was supposed to be in Montreal, hiding from the wrath of the Chicago grand jury.

The articles revealed nothing that has not been known since the news of the first agreement came out. Briefly the terms of the articles are:

Dempsey is to receive $300,000, win, lose or draw.

Carpentier is to receive $200,000, win lose or draw.

The moving picture rights will be controlled by a stock company made up of the managers, the boxers and the three promoters.

BAN ONOTHER BOUTS

The bout will be held during the month of March, 1921, or on any day between May 29, 1921, and July 4,1921. Briefly if the fight is to be held in March the promoters must notify the boxers by January 1. If it is to be at a later date the fighters must be notified by March 1. If the fight is to be held on one of the later dates either boxer may engage in another bout, with the understanding that Dempsey is not to box in Europe and Carpentier is not to box in the United States. This provision is designed to prevent Carpentier, especially, from kissing any canvas before the main event.

According to the articles, the bout will be from ten to fifteen rounds and it may be held anywhere within the jurisdiction of the United States, Canada, Mexico or the moist little isle of Cuba. It will be held in the United States, unless it is treated as Abe Attell was treated at the Claridge. The location favored by the promoters is New York City, where the million dollar house, necessary for the peace of mind and happiness is located.

As announced previously, the promoters will post a forfeit of $100,000 and the boxers will post $50,000 each. The official stakeholder is Robert Edgren, and it is provided in the articles that he shall be the final arbiter in the event of any dispute regarding the provisions of the articles.

While the bout will be subject to the provisions of the boxing laws of the state or country in which it is held, provision is made that the referee and judges shall be selected from the following list: Bill Brown, Otto Floto, James J. Jeffries, James F. Daugherty, James J. Corbett and Robert Edgren.

There is one significant clause in the articles. The promoters, Tex Rickard, William A. Brady and Charles Cochran, have the privilege of selling the fight to the highest bidder at any time. In that event

IN THE MOUNTAINS

In The Mountains. Anonymous. New York: Doubleday, Page & Co., $1.90.

It is not a rash guess that "In the Mountains" is exactly what its diary form and its autobiographical contents purport it to be—the intimate confidences of a cultured Englishwoman woven into a graceful story.

The book has all the charm of the unusual in addition to the aura of interest that surrounds any writing of unkown authorship. The reviewer agrees with the writer of the "jacket blurb" that it is hard to understand why the author should want her identity to remain a secret. The book contains no damaging "confessions," unless the author looks upon her professed unwillingness to "pursue Germans into the recesses of eternity as enemy aliens," her comments upon the anti-Christian qualities of her ecclesiastic relatives or her hints of having suffered because she loved greatly in the light of unacknowledgable sentiments. If the writer were not a person of considerable modesty her hesitancy over professing such matters would be more than counterbalanced by the natural desire for rewarding appreciation of her whimsical style and quaint humor. Whoever she may be—and the personal tone of a letter from Henry James, which is quoted in the text, argues that she is Somebody—the author of "In the Mountains" writes in a finished style that almost precludes the possibility that her present book is her first.

The story tells with admirable simplicity how a woman, crippled in soul by losing in the war all those whom she loved, seeks to heal her shattered faith in the world's goodness by retiring to a recluse-like existence in a Swiss chalet. The thoughts that come to her dusing her spiritual convalescence she puts down in a sprightly manner that gives the lie to her own assertion that "a woman when she talks seems usually to have forgotten the salt." There is no lack of salt, and spice, too, in her one-sided conversations with the diary into which she allows the reader to look. Although she confesses to this diary that "the good do bind one heavily in chains" there is a noticeably increased cheeriness in the entries from the date on which two eminently good ladies stumble by chance upon her lonely sanctuary and become her permanent guests. The mending qualities of her "little house of peace hung up in the sunshine well on the way to heaven" at once become more effective than when she had no one to help her tend the garden on the precipice which she describes so delightfully. Up the ladder of beautiful days she climbs slowly away from the blackness of spirit that engulfed her in the opening pages of her story, until the last entry in her diary reads, "The house, I think, ought to be rechristened. It ought to be called Chalet du Fleuve Jordan."

ELI OF THE DOWNS

Eli Of The Downs. By C. M. A. Peake. George H. Doran Company.

Scarcely to be called a story, in that it has no clearly defined plot, "Eli of the Downs" is rather the chronicle of a man's life from birth to death. It tells first of Eli Buckle's boyhood in the little village of Bourne and on the downs among the sheep. Then of his youth and young manhood, when he himself became head shepherd, of his love story, and the tragedy which caused him to turn his back on all the old familiar places and things and ship before the mast on a Cardiff collier. At last Eli returned home, and many of his neighbors used to come to him there with their troubles, for he had garnered a certain store of wisdom during his wanderings, wisdom from many men. Although it contains a murder and a shipwreck, the general effect of the book is one of quietude. It is, on the whole, well written, and while not a particularly engrossing volume, neither is it a dull one.

FUEL CONSERVATION

Sunbeams, Inc. By Julian Steet. New York: Doubleday, Page & Co.

This little book is chiefly remarkable as showing how a trained writer, who habitually takes a humorous view of what comes into his zone of observation, can build up a whole volume of acceptable reading upon material so slight as to be almost negligible. It is true that the volume here considered is small—only 120 leaded pages—but the feat is noteworthy nevertheless. Not only is the story so thin that it will hardly hold together, but it is impossible to feel any sympathy with the leading character—a state of things which often is fatal in a work of this kind. That it is not so in this instance is immeasurably to the credit of the author. Somehow he makes us interested in the doings of an egotistical, selfish, caddish young man, whose insufferable conceit, cold appraisement of obviously friendly motives and disregard of social obligations recognised by any decent person render him so obnoxious that one wonders how his acquaintances even can tolerate him.

The title of the book refers to a business enterprise established by this young man which aims to improve merchandising by the psychological aid of sunbeams. It is somewhat vague, although, as deftly presented by the author, it becomes logical enough to be accepted. The young man writes verses and short paragraphs which he calls "Gloom Chasers," and which are printed in "boiler-plate" in papers all over the country. They are designed to awaken curiosity and ultimately to bring profit to the writer. How they do this can be understood only by reading the book. The main point is that they do it.

It is difficult to convey a clear and sane understanding of what "Sunbeams, Inc.," is really all about, but it can be promised that it affords whimsical entertainment of unique quality, more especially as it seems that probably the author's tongue was in his cheek as he wrote.

BOXERS TO GET 500,000 DOLLARS

they are released and the new promoter or promoters will be left holding the million-dollar bag.

MUST DEPOSIT $500,000

The articles call for the depositing of the $500,000 which goes to the fighters twenty-four hours before the bout is staged. Once the bell rings the boxers are to collect, win, lose or draw, or even in the event of the referee declaring "No contest."

Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey, and Francois Deschamps, manager for Carpentier, are credited with having already deposited securities worth $500,000 to cover their end of the forfeit.

Long before the hour set for the public signing the lobby of the Hotel Claridge was cluttered with cauliflower ears and striped silk shirts, with here and there the regulation yegg cap and the fur coats of the wealthier pork and bean fighters.

There was something like consternation when Abe Attell breezed into the corridor with a bland smile on his face, chirping: "Well, well, and how is everybody." The silence could be cut with a shovel Abe had been present at all championship signings and no grand jury was going to keep him out of this picture.

But Abe was eventually eased out of the picture and the tin ears moved upstairs to the ballroom, where the signing table waited on a raised platform with a piano behind it. A Senator from Colorado made the opening address, flanked by a chorus of lawyers. Then Charles Cochran marched to the signing platform while "God Save the King" was played. Tex Rickard walked up to the tune of "Every Little Bit Added to What You Got Makes Just a Little Bit More." Then the "Marseillaise" and Carpentier, and "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier," and the champion, fixed his monicker to the papers while Carpentier applauded.

NICKY ARNSTEIN MISSING

In the mean time rumors to the effect that Abe Attell was coming up through the dumb waiter caused some consternation. Another rumor that Nicky Arnstein was in the house proved to be without foundation. The boys on the side lines began to hum "How Dry I Am." Abe Attell was outside telling the world that he would see a lawyer and hinting that the signing might not be legal unless his picture was in it.

The decorations in the ballroom were simple and tasteful. They consisted principally of "Strangler" Ed. Lewis, the wrestler, who was gracefully draped around a curved lounge. Frank Cappell strung a cluster of minor wrestlers around the ballroom.

When the actual signing began nothing was heard but the scrape of the fountain pen and the click of the moving picture camera. Only from the street now and then there came a plaintive murmur that sounded like Abe Attel protesting mournfully to Broadway and Forty-fourth Street.

A touch of tropical color was lent to the scene by two representatives of the Cuban syndicate which was alleged to be bidding for the bout. Marco Gonzalez and Rafael Bosso, representing the syndicate, bid $700,000 for the bout, and offered to have the cash in the ballroom by 5 o'clock. Several oldtime fighters swooned, but Jack Kearns arose to announce that $700,000 could not buy the bout. Tom O'Rourke, who had bid $600,000 for Harry Frazee, burst into tears.

Then Rafael Bosso announced that Cuba would pay Jack Dempsey $100,000 to fight Juan P. Sanchez, a Cuban bull-fighter. Jack Kearns accepted this offer tentatively on the condition that Sanchez would not bring the bull into the ring with him.

During the ceremonies Dempsey and Carpentier sat side by side conversing affably—but in whispers. Carpentier looked very frail beside the Americans lines, the two managers, Francois Deschamps and Jack Kearns, exchanged perfume bottles, after the fashion of gents exchanging snuff boxes. The room was lighted by a soft red glow given out by the roast beef complexion of Cochran. Tex Rickard, who has become bald in the fight promotion game, stroked his few remaining hairs lovingly. William A. Brady came late, and was almost out of the picture.

With the signing over, the flashlights boomed and the room became filled with smoke and the perfume from the rival managers. Abe Attell, waiting outside, realised his doom. A championship bout had been signed and he was not in the picture. As the smoke from the flashlights poured out of the windows of the Claridge ballroom, he wept and would not be comforted.

The articles will prevent the Willard-Dempsey match unless the fight should be held after March. Dempsey is anxious for the return match and Rickard would not be averse to staging it in Madison Square Garden. Reports concerning Willard conflict. Some are to the effect that he has been training for a comeback. Others are that he is a big, flabby person with no more chance than a Chinese.

Jack and Georges shook hands fervently and affectionately as they separated. "I hope nothing happens to the poor fellow till I get him in the ring," said Dempsey. And Georges said something in French to the same effect. The million dollars' worth of customers necessary to make all parties happy may now start to save up their money for the next meeting.

PLAN ANNUAL MEET

Dr. Gray who refereed the meet said that there were four or five men who might be good enough for the Far Eastern Games which are to be held in Shanghai probably in May of next year, and of which Dr. Gray is executive secretary. Amoy surely is awake when it comes to athletics and it is hoped that the big pond in the center of the city will be made available for still greater practice and success. With the nearest practice grounds two miles away from the city at present Amoy men surely ought to show up even better than in the last Far Eastern should they secure that pond for an athletic field. Amoy had the best dash man from China and a decathlon man who was third best from China in the last Far Eastern.

If is planned to hold Fukien Championships each year. The meets to be held alternately in Foochow and Amoy. Mr. Tan Kah-kee who with Mr. Ng Ek-tsu furnished the greater amount of the money used by the South Fukien Amateur Athletic Association in carrying on the meet has already invited the Foochow people to come back again in two years.

Dr. MacGillivray Speaker On Conservation Before Canadian Association

Reports on the progress and growth of the Canadian Association of China were presented yesterday at the monthly meeting of the association that was held in the office of Dr. J. W. Ross, Canadian Trade Commissioner, and an address on the subject "Conservation of Canadian Resources" was given by Dr. D. MacGillivray, Chairman of the Association.

To increase the interest of members in the work of the association a proposal advanced yesterday by Mr. S. P. Westaway, Secretary, was to introduce a social element into future meetings by holding them at homes of members. This suggestion will be discussed at the January meeting of the association. An outline of subjects to be presented at meetings to be held in the new year is as follows:

1921 PROGRAM

Canadian Transportation by Mr. A. H. Tessier of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Service. This address will be given at the January meeting.

Canadian Missions in China by Mr. J. H. Geldart of the Y.M.C.A.

Canadian Industries and Exports by Dr. J .W. Ross.

The China Market for Canadian Products by Dr. J. W. Ross.

Canadian Banking Facilities by Mr. W. J. Dickson of the Park Union Bank.

DR. MacGILLIVRAY SPEAKS

Canadian Educational Institutions by Mr. J. J. Evans.

The address given at yesterday's meeting by Doctor MacGillivray was as follows:

It is an excellent thing on a patriotic platform to speak about the inexhaustible resources of our Country, but in the year 1907, Theodore Roosevelt and others like Mr. Pinchot awoke to the fact that the resources of any country, however rich, are not really inexhaustible, and it was quite possible for the Nation to be wasting them at such a rate that within measurable time these resources would become exhausted.

Theodore Roosevelt is regarded as the great originator of the movement for national conservation. He introduced legislation which among other things set aside large tracts as national parks.

Canada, in the year 1910, followed his lead by passing a Conservation Act, the object of which was the preservation of our national resources, and their economic use. Since that time this Act has been enforced and a large body of experts form a Commission of Conservation, which issues a report from time to time.

COMMISSION'S WORK

In Canada, before the War, this Commission of Conservation was at work. The Commission is divided up into Committees, first, of Fisheries, game and fur-bearing animals; second, on Forests; third on Lands; fourth, on Minerals; fifth on Publicity and co-operating organisations; sixth on Public Health; and another Committee on Water and Water Powers.

First of all there are the fisheries. Some of us will remember that years ago the seal fisheries in the Behring Sea were found to be almost in danger of total extermination. This became a matter of international importance, and negotiations took place between United States, Great Britain and Canada, the result of which was that laws were passed which enabled the seals to multiply without danger of extermination. But the most recent example of reckless use of fisheries is in connection with the salmon on the British Columbia Coast.

Fishermen, some of them from Asia, have practically fished out the best variety of salmon called "Sockeye." The Government has investigated the matter, and there is now an international Commission, representing Canada and the United States, which is at work on a treaty between the two countries governing the Sockeye Fishing Industry in the Fraser River, and the lower portion of the Straits of Georgia and Sts. of Juan de Fuca in the State of Washington, by which means it is hoped that the great salmon fisheries may be so used as to allow the salmon to multiply without danger of extinction.

ON FORESTS

As to the forests, it is good to know that the Government is expending more upon their preservation than upon any other of the national resources. Canada's fire bill is a tremendous one but recent legislation on this subject has greatly lessened this danger. The importance of our forests may be seen when I say that there are five thousand wood-using industries already in existence. Moreover, we are as a Country opposite the great Asiatic lands where wood is so very scarce and expensive, and the possibilities of exporting lumber to China and the East is a very alluring one.

In reference to British Columbia forests, the conservation people have shown that the annual lumber trade can be increased fivefold with good management without impairing the forest capital stock. Our lumber trade at present aggregates about $30,000,000.00 in value.

The Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills have been looking into the subject of conservation, because the supply is being exhausted in some places. It is said that one-fourth of the news-print used in the United States comes from Canada, and fifteen percent of the pulpwood consumed in that country is the product of Canadian Forests.

It is obvious that forests must be recognised as a crop rather than a mine, and that cutting operations on non-agricultural lands must be conducted always with a view to the perpetuation of the forests as such.

MINERALS

In the matter of minerals, of course, it is impossible to do other than discover new sources of supply, and utilise those minerals which have hitherto, owing to the abundance of better qualities, been entirely neglected. However, the possible exhaustion of our coal supply has intensified the anxiety of the nation to develop the water powers, which are found so abundantly from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

We are all familiar with the hydro development at Niagara Falls. It is said that all the water at Niagara Falls allotted to Canada and the United States under the "Boundary Waters" Treaty, viz.—56,000 cu. ft. per second, has now been apportioned to the various development companies. I suppose this will prevent the Falls from disappearing entirely owing to the demands of our industrial concerns, although attempts to divert more water are constantly being made. However, a new way has been found whereby, without diverting any more water, the amount of power at Niagara Falls can be doubled. This is by taking advantage of a descent in the Rapids above and below the Falls, as well as the fall in the cataract itself. A great work in this direction is being carried out on the Canadian side, viz.—A canal from Chippewa right down to Queenstown. The output of this new plan is the equivalent to eight percent of all the plants on the United States side of Niagara Falls.

A great water conservation work has been constructed in the Algoma District by the International Nickel Co., viz.—A dam on the Spanish River which will raise the level of the River one hundred feet, and will create a lake with an area of fifteen square miles. Great interest was taken in the proposal by an American Power Company to build a dam in the bed of the St. Lawrence River. It became the subject of international dispute, and in the end the American Company were granted the privilege during the duration of the War, or for five years, whichever term might be longer.

Although it is not under the Commission of Conservation, but under the Department of Soldiers Civil Re-establishment, the conservation of our men is really of more importance than the conservation of our material resources. The Department has recently issued an excellent Report showing what has been done for all classes of men who have returned, more or less, disabled, for ordinary occupations. Men have been taught one of three hundred and fourteen different occupations. The blind have received special care.

We, who live in China, are not only interested in these matters because we come from Canada, but because the land we live in so sorely needs efforts along all these lines.

China must not only develop her resources of material and men, but also conserve, for it will yet be seen that the other Nations of the World will need what China has to give as its contribution to the happiness of the World.

FURS

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE

Our strong desire is to extend our business. During the early part of this season many of our branches throughout the Northern parts of China and Manchuria, and elsewhere, have been searching for valuable furs. We have now made these into dresses, muffs, rugs, and other suitable articles for presents. We have also different coloured skins for the trimming of dresses, also a great deal of the finest fox, ermines, white bear skin and tiger skins. All these are on exhibition in our store. Five Dentifrice Features in One

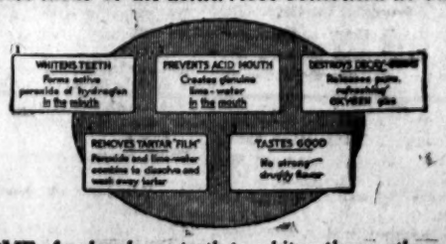
(Newest ideas of all dentifrices combined in Calox



WHITENS TEETH
Forms active peroxide of hydrogen in the mouth
PREVENTS ACID MOUTH
Creates glorious lime-water in the mouth
DESTROYS DECAY-GERMS
Releases pure, refreshing OXYGEN gas
REMOVES TARTAR FILM
Peroxide and lime-water combine to dissolve and wash away tartar
TASTES GOOD
No strong druggy flavor

SOME of us brush our teeth to whiten them; others to prevent decay and still others to refresh the mouth. Many believe they have acid-mouth or wish to remove the "crust of tartar" which is forming.

Regardless of why you brush your teeth, study the chart above and decide whether the dentifrice you are now trying will do or is doing all that you can reasonably expect from a dentifrice.

If it is, continue to use it faithfully. If it is good for only one of the duties of a good dentifrice, you had better try McK & R Calox, which combines in one dentifrice most of the features of all modern dentifrices.

If you haven't heard the story of McK & R Calox—how it forms real lime-water in your mouth to prevent acids—how it creates fresh active peroxide on the teeth every time you brush them—how it releases genuine oxygen gas which penetrates into every crevice and "gasses" the dangerous decay-germs into harmlessness, if you don't know this story of the victory of modern science, send for "The McK & R Calox Story."

Your dentist will recommend McK & R Calox to you and your druggist has it. Try it next time you need a dentifrice.

The taste is a surprise to most people. It is not the least bit "druggy" which proves that it is possible to make a pleasant tasting dentifrice and that a "strong" taste does not prove the efficiency of any paste or powder.

China And The Far Eastern Republic

THE remnants of the Semenoff and Kappel forces which have been operating in Zabaikalia have been eliminated. This followed a conference of the representatives of all local governments held some time ago in Chita, at which a Central Government for all of Far Eastern Siberia was elected. Thus, the unification of all the provinces in the Far-Eastern Republic, from Selenga to the Pacific Ocean, has, with the adherence of Vladivostok, become an accomplished fact. Conditions in a portion of the Maritime Province, from Vladivostok to Nikolsk and thence to Pogranichnaya, it is true are not quite settled. But even there, the people, through their trade unions and peasants' meetings, have resolved to recognise the authority of the Chita Government. Hence the political tenor of the next session of the assembly can be easily foretold.

However, in the part of the Maritime Province referred to, the Russian people have not yet become masters of their own land. We refer to the recent warning of General Oi that he would not tolerate "communist" rule in the territory occupied by Japanese forces.

It is difficult to prophesy the immediate development in this part of Russia's territory. On the one hand, there is the opening of negotiations between Mr. Kojevnikoff, the representative of the new Central Government at Chita and the Japanese Command, but, on the other hand, there is the gathering of the remnants of Kappel's and Semenoff's men at Pogranichnaya.

The Semenoff and Kappel men do not constitute any danger to the inhabitants of Vladivostok, as they have been disarmed by the Chinese authorities; but in case the Japanese should find it advantageous to make use of these men for the furtherance of their policies, new complications are liable to arise. It is not impossible that the Japanese may attempt to set up a buffer state over a small portion of the Far Eastern Republic. The ensuing struggle then would not be between different groups of Russians, but between a united Russia and Japan.

The course of events in the Russian Far East is of great importance to China. On the borders of the two countries trade is now open. Chinese goods pass freely via Harbin and Manchuria, into Zabaikalia and further west, and the Chinese obtain in return Russian goods which they require. Having freed itself from the reactionary forces, the Far-Eastern Republic may now be expected to pay more attention to business relations with China at other points of their common frontier.

The unification of the Russian Far East is not only of great economic importance to China, but also of great political significance. The government of the new Far-Eastern Republic probably does not cherish any aggressive or imperialistic designs on China. On the contrary, the international status of the two republics warrants as a logical necessity the establishment of the most cordial and friendly relations.

No matter what the outcome of the negotiations between the Far-Eastern Republic and the Japanese Command at Vladivostok, the outstanding fact is that the new republic will pay close attention to the protection of its territory. At the same time it will strive to eliminate all the remaining traces of foreign intervention.

This means that there will be war between Japan and Russia unless the former decides to evacuate Siberia. And if Japan prefers war to evacuation she will attempt to use Chinese territory in organising her attack. Only a few days ago a writer in an exchange made this statement:

"Japan desires a consolidated North China in the event of war between Soviet Russia and Japan and that Japanese interest is not to be victorious over Soviet Russia but to dominate North China through such a war and to make peace with Red Russia as soon as such conquest has been made."

It is difficult to judge how much truth there may be in this statement, but it admits of no doubt that China and the Far Eastern Republic are both objects of the aggressive policy of Japan. The refusal of the Japanese Government to withdraw its troops from the territory of the Chinese Eastern Railway and the developments in Mongolia are sufficient evidence of Japan's aggressiveness.

From this brief survey of the Far Eastern political maelstrom, this fact emerges: China cannot stand still. She must be prepared to march with events, and it is inconceivable that her course should be that of rendering aid to Japan as against the new Far Eastern Republic.

FOR PEACE IN CHINA

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: The union of the North and South governments seems hopeful, as the parliaments of both sides are meeting in order to save the country from more trouble. It is, however, still difficult to meet with success at present, because of the quarrel about Persident Hsu. It is an important question whether he ought to keep his position in the government, or whether he should retire from his office. As he was elected by the illegal parliament recently dissolved by him, how can he stand alone? The only measure that can make the present conditions easier, I think, is that Hsu should continue his political affairs as a temporary president, until all the difficulties have been thoroughly solved by those who are responsible to the people. No other way to get out of the trouble can be found than by a conference held by the true representatives, who can discuss all questions between themselves. I am, very truly yours,

B. K. WANG.

America's Navy In The War

REVIEW BY B. F. FISKE

This book is written with perfect modesty, and nowhere makes even the faintest claim that its author did more than his plain duty on the services to which he was assigned. Nevertheless, one can hardly rise from a careful perusal of its pages without the conviction that the one American who did more than any other one American toward the winning of the war was William Sowden Sims. The narrative plainly shows by facts and dates and figures that, when Sims arrived in London on April 10, 1917, the United States had shown little evidence of any understanding of the situation, or any determination to put forth her utmost strength on the Allies' side; and it also shows that the measures which Sims was finally able to adopt and carry out he had to persuade and almost bully the Navy Department to permit. When we visualise the actual situation, as Sims pictures it to us, and then realise how very close the German submarine came to bringing Great Britain to starvation, and then realise how very close the German Army later came to crushing the allied armies in France, and then realise how just a little less energy and a little less wisdom in naval strategy would have permitted the German submarine to triumph in the North Sea and the German Army to triumph in France, we can see clearly that the critical time in the war was before our army went across, and that the man who forced and guided us to do what we finally did do was William Sowden Sims.

That he was able to force and guide us was in itself no small achievement, for there were some in the United States who "would just as lief fight England as Germany," and who thought that they saw in the war between these giants a chance for both to exhaust themselves in every way, and to give the United States the dominance over both, because of our material resources. But Sims with clearer vision, saw not only the unwisdom of such a policy, but its unforgivable selfishness. He saw that the defeat of Great Britain would insure the dominance of Germany not only on the land in Europe but on all the seas; that, even if Germany did not use the British fleet (which the terms of Britain's surrender would hand to her) for waging war on us immediately, a sure, though possibly slow process of events would put the unprepared and governmentally inefficient United States under the highly prepared and super-efficient Germany. Sims's main reason, however, was of a higher order and magnanimously expressed as follows in one of his despatches to his Government: "The consequences of failure or partial failure of the allied cause which we have joined are of such far-reaching character that I am deeply concerned in insuring that the part played by our country shall stand every test of analysis before the bar of history."

The book is crowded with exciting narratives of adventure, interesting descriptions of the events and conditions which led up to and followed them, and instructive expositions of the strategy which rescued civilisation and led to final victory. Among the numberless books about the war I have seen no other which is so concise and clear and which shows the march of the main events so unobscured by unessential details. From beginning to end, the reader is never left in doubt on a single point. At the present day, especially at the present moment during the election campaign, when nearly everything that one reads is intentionally mixed up and confused, it is as refreshing as a whiff of dry, cool air on a sultry day to gaze at the clean-cut pictures that Admiral Sims presents. That this is the only kind of book that he possibly could write, every man knowing the transparency of his character and the precision of his mental operations could confidently declare. The assistance given by Burton J. Hendrick is evident in the literary quality of the whole.

In order that the reader may start with the correct idea of the actual situation which Sims found when he reached London on April 10, 1917, four days after the United States had taken up her burden, the first chapter is headed "When Germany Was Winning the War," and is devoted to proving that Germany was then actually winning, and that the responsible authorities in England were thoroughly aware of the fact. They did not dare to tell the people, because such a course would have given direct assistance to the German Government, but they did tell Sims. The individual who told him was Admiral Jellicoe, the First Sea Lord of the British Admiralty, who was better able to judge than anybody else, and who, most fortunately, had been a personal friend of Sims for many years.

With his habitual caution, Sims did not convey this information to our Navy Department until he had been able to ascertain all the essential facts himself, visualise them in their correct proportions and reach a decision as to the recommendations which he ought to make. Then, on April 14, he sent a long cable to Secretary Daniels, which for clearness and convincingness left nothing to be desired. On April 19 he supplemented this with a long report, describing in detail the sources of his information, the views of the situation held by the high officials of the navy and of the State, the peril caused by the growing success of the submarine, and the necessity for the utmost possible celerity and effectiveness of action by our Navy Department. Later, realising that Secretary Daniels had not been brought to see the situation as he saw it, Sims urged our Ambassador, Mr. Page, to come to his assistance. Mr. Page acceded promptly and vigorously, and on April 27 sent a cable to our State Department like that of Sims to our Navy Department.

Unfortunately, Secretary Daniels did not agree with Admiral Sims and the British Navy officers as to the naval conditions in the North Sea and on the western coast of Europe, or as to the means which should be taken in order to change them from unfavorable to favorable; and so it was not for nearly four months, not until about Aug. 1, that he finally consented to adopt their recommendations. Thereafter, the assistance which our destroyers and other light craft gave to the almost exhausted British Navy was able gradually but surely to bring into existence an effective convoy system, and thereby force any submarine desiring to sink a merchant ship to fight for the opportunity to do so against an armed defending vessel of some kind. This virtually forced the submarines to limit their operations to areas near the coast, reduced the areas that had to be guarded to manageable limits, forced the submarines to be much more careful in their attacks, and therefore made the sinkings they effected much less frequent. The rate of sinkings began to fall almost immediately after the convoy system had been got into operation and our navy had begun to give effective aid.

In order to describe the way in which the American destroyers and lighter craft co-operated with those of the British and the French, Admiral Sims describes the room in the Admiralty which constituted the headquarters of the convoy system.

"Herein [he says] was the mainspring of the elaborate mechanism by which 10,000 ships were routed over the seven oceans. Here, every morning, those who had been charged with the security of the Allies' lines of communication reviewed the entire submarine situation. . . . The most conspicous feature of the convoy room was a huge chart entirely covering the wall on one side of the office; access to this chart was obtained by ladders not unlike those used in shoe stores. . . . The ports which it especially emphasised were Sydney (Cape Breton), Halifax, New York, Hampton Roads, Gibraltar and Sierra Leone and Dakar, ports on the west coast of Africa. Thin threads were stretched from each one of the seven points to certain positions in the ocean just outside the British Isles, and on these threads were little paper boats, each one of which represented a convoy. . . . At any moment, therefore, a mere glance at this chart with its multitude of paper boats gave the spectator the precise location of all the commerce which was then en route to the scene of war. . . . Little circles were marked off in the waters surrounding the British Isles, each one of which was intended to show the location of a German submarine. From day to day each one of these circles was moved in accordance with the ascertained positions of the submarine which it represented. . . . A kind of separate intelligence bureau devoted its entire attention to this subject. . . . That is to say, the intelligence department took charge of Fritz and his crew as they emerged from their base and kept an unwearied eye upon them until they sailed back home. . . . On the huge chart already described, the convoys, each indicated by a little boat, were shown steadily making their progress toward the appointed rendezvous. Eight or nine submarines, likewise indicated on the chart, were always waiting to intercept them. On that great board the prospective tragedies of the sea were thus unfolding before our eyes. Here, for example, was a New York convoy of twenty ships steaming toward Liverpool, but steering straight toward the position of a submarine. The thing to do was perfectly plain. It was a simple matter to send the convoy a wireless message to take a course fifty miles to the south, where, according to the chart, there were no hidden enemies. In a few hours the little paper boat, which represented this group of ships and which was apparently headed for destruction, would suddenly turn southward, pass round the entirely unconscious submarine and then take an unobstructed course for its destination."

To show the opinion formed by the British Navy of the officers and men whom we sent over, it is sufficient to quote the following paragraph from an official letter written to those stationed near Queenstown by the grim and gruff old Admiral Sir Lewis Bayly, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., C.V.O., of the Royal Navy, after they had served with him continuously for a year: "To command you is an honor, to work with you is a pleasure, to know you is to know the best traits of the Anglo-Saxon race."

Undoubtedly, the most exciting chapter is that headed "Decoying Submarines to Destruction," which describes the purposes, equipment and operations of the "mystery ships." These were vessels armed with guns and torpedoes and manned by navy officers and seamen, but equipped and managed with consummate skill in such ways as to look and act like a low grade of merchant ship. That human beings could have been able to endure what their crews endured one could hardly believe, if he did not know the facts; for, not only did they by direct intention permit their vessels to be torpedoed and then shelled by submarines, but the men remained wholly unprotected and absolutely quiescent until the Germans in each attacking submarine were convinced that if any one were left on board he had been killed; and then, when the submarine finally rose above the surface, over went the sham bulwarks, away went a dozen obstructions of a dozen kinds, out into plain view came the guns and torpedo tubes and down went the submarine to death!

Among the names of the extraordinary characters who could perform such deeds as the men of the "mystery ships" performed, the name of Captain Gordon Campbell, R. N., stauds pre-eminent; for he not only did the most in originating and developing the scheme, but was of all the super-brave men who fought them the most conspicuously super-brave. One of his most brilliant performances was unsuccessful. "On an August day, in 1917," writes Sims, "the British 'merchant steamer' Dunraven (commanded by Campbell) was zigzagging across the Bay of Biscay. The vessel represented the final perfection of the mystery ships. Though seemingly a harmless tramp, she carried a number of guns, also two torpedo tubes and several depth charges. The stern of the Dunraven was a veritable arsenal." A submarine was sighted. The Dunraven fired a shell from a small gun such as all merchantmen had, but made it fall far short, to make the German think it came from a real merchantman. Then the Dunraven fled. The U-boat pursued, firing. Soon a shot landed on the Dunraven that seemed to do serious damage; for a great cloud of steam rose up, as if a boiler had been hit. But this came from a steam pipe so arranged that it could give out such clouds by the simple pulling of a lever. Shortly after, a lot of men left the Dunraven in boats, simulating panic. But just then an incident occurred, not at all in Campbell's program, for a German shell actually struck a hidden mass of men and ammunition. It detonated 300 pounds of high explosive. "Clouds of black smoke began to rise, and below tongues of fire presently appeared, licking their way in the direction of a large quantity of ammunition, cordite and other high explosises." Just at that moment the submarine was seen approaching, only 400 yards distant.

"Captain Campbell was about to give the order to fire when the wind took up the dense smoke and wafted it between his ship and the submarine. . . . All this time the fire at the stern was increasing in fiercenssss; in a brief period, Captain Campbell knew a mass of ammunition and depth charges would explode. . . . The agony of their position tested their self-control to the utmost. The deck on which they lay became every moment hotter: the leather of their shoes began to smoke, but they refused to budge—for to flee to a safer spot meant revealing themselves to the submarine and thereby betraying their secret. . . . It was probably something of a relief when the expected explosion took place. The submarine had to go only 200 yards more to be under the fire of three guns at a range of only 400 yards; but just as it was rounding the stern the German officers and men standing on the deck were greeted with a terrific roar. Suddenly a conglomeration of men, guns and unexploded shells was hurled into the air."

The Dunraven was sunk, and this particular submarine that sunk her escaped unharmed.

But the "mystery ships" sank twelve submarines directly and accomplished still more indirectly, by making the Germans hesitate to approach even the most apparently helpless merchant ship, and by filling their minds with that kind of fear which is the most demoralising of all fears, the fear of the unknown.

Far East News Notes

RICE SITUATION ACUTE IN JAPAN

One of the most important questions today, though it is hardly realised as it should be, is Japan's constant problem of how to feed her great population. Of about 3,000,000 square cho of rice plantation in Japan, about 900,000 square cho is badly watered, according to a Government return.

At the last session of the Diet, the Department of Agriculture and Commerce obtained approval of an estimate of Y.800,000 for the improvement of these plantations, and it is reported that as a first step towards this end the Department has started investigations into the half of the 900,000 square cho. It is expected that when this work is consummated, about 15,000,000 koku more of rice will be gathered in the whole country. This rice question in Japan is really the keystone of Far Eastern politics.

NATIONAL PARKS PLANNED FOR JAPAN

The construction of seven magnificent national parks in Japan is under consideration at the Department of Home Affairs, says the Hochi. One of those world's resort for recreation will be constructed at Hakone, taking part of the slope of Mt. Fuji. Next comes Nikko and its neighborhood ranging to Shiobara and the third is near the Inland Sea of Seto.

The mountain range of so-called Japan Alps comprising Komagatake, Yarigatake, Mitake and Yatsugatake is also being considered among the beautiful spots, while Mt. Asama and its surrounding region from Karuizawa to Kutsugake will be also undoubtedly among the number considered.

Lake Towada in Aomori prefecture and Mt. Kirishima in Kagoshima prefecture are to be transformed into popular resorts. One of the authorities interviewed by the Hochi is credited with the statement that the proposed construction of cable-car lines between Nikko and Shiobara will be undertaken by the Government.

EXCLUDE MISSIONARIES URGES JAPAN PAPER

The burning of a missionary school by the Japanese expeditionary forces to Chientao is conclusive proof of the connections between Christianity and rebels, says the Hochi.

"When things have come to such a pass, the issue should not be dismissed with the burning of a single school. Perhaps America will make difficulty in this connection, but even if no action is taken by that country we should take the initiative in settling the trouble.

"Christian missionaries are disturbers of peace in the Orient. Not only do they instigate rebels in China and Korea, but the newspapers recently recorded that they even dare do so in this country.

"Should we not follow the example of America and prohibite the entry of this country by missionaries?

TRIP OF JAPANESE PRINCE TO EUROPE POSTPONED

The visit of H. I. H. Crown Prince Hirohito to Europe will be postponed indefinitely, according to the Jiji, on account of the ill health of the Emperor and the consequent pressure of affairs which demand the presence of the Crown Prince in Japan.

The decision, says that paper, was reached at a recent meeting of the Elder Statesmen, when matters pertaining to the Imperial Household and the proposed trip of the Crown Prince were discussed.

GERMAN DIPLOMATS DINED AT TOKIO

The re-establishment of diplomatic relations between Japan and Germany was celebrated on November 20 at a dinner given by Mr. Momosuke Fukuzawa, a member of the House of Representatives in honor of Dr. Wilhelm Solf, German Ambassador to Japan, Mrs. Solf, and other prominent people in Tokio.

The dinner was held at Mr. Fukuzawa's residence in Shimo-Shibuya. The guests included members of the staff of the German Embassy with their wives German Consuls and Vice-Consuls and their wives; Baron Goto, Mr. Hicki, Hr. Oka, President of the Metropolitan City Police; Baron Morimura and Mr. Kamada, President of Keio University.

After the dinner Mr. Fukuzawa made an address of welcome to which Dr. Solf replied.

Later the guests were entertained by actors from the Imperial Theater, who gave a play entitled "Goddess of Love."

MANY OFFICAL CHANGES MADE IN HONGKONG

The Hon. Mr. Claud Severn, C. M. G., Colonial Secretary for Hongkong, is expected to arrive in Hongkong on the Delta, due about January 6, to resume his post. The Hon. Mr. A. G. M. Fletcher, C. B. E., Acting Colonial Secretary, expects to depart on leave for ten months on the Sicilia, sailing about December 31.

The Hon. Mr. E. R. Hallifax O. C. E., Secretary for Chinese Affairs, also will depart on leave, as at present contemplated, on the Sicilia in company with the Acting Colonial Secretary. In his absence Mr. S. B. C. Ross, Postmaster General, will act as Secretary for Chinese Affairs.

The Hon. Mr. William Chatham, C. M. G., Director of Public Works, who is leaving the Colony, will probably take his departure during the month of January. It has not been settled yet who will take Mr. Chatham's place.

TOKIO CRIME INCREASE NECESSITATES MORE POLICE

The authorities have decided to increase the number of police in Tokio by a further 1,671, on account of the great increase in the population of the city and the general estimates for this have been introduced into the Prefectural Council.

Mr. Miyazaki, one of the high police officials, according to the Nichi Nichi, states that crime in Tokio is on the increase.

The number of policemen in the capital and the suburbs, according to him, is 7,600, but this force is not sufficient to keep the city as safe as the police authorities would like it to be. A fair proportion of the new police will be specially trained in regulating traffic.

PILGRIMAGE BY AIR NEW SCHEME FOR JAPAN

A Toba message to a vernacular paper says that the Toyo Yuyen Kaisha (Oriental Recreation Ground Company) has a plan under contemplation for inaugurating an aerial service between Toyohashi and Toba for the benefit of pilgrims from Tokio and other Kwanto districts to the Grand Shrine at Ise.

Mr. Ichimori, a director of the company, visited Toba on the 25th instant in company with Mr. Ozaki Yukiteru, an aviator, who is a son of Mr. Ozaki, formerly the Minister of Justice and the Mayor of Tokio, in order to conduct the necessary inspection of the prospective landing place and other matters.

The promoters of the scheme intend to open the service in January next, if the official permission be obtained.

DENIES ABDUCTION OF KOREAN PRINCE

The Seoul Press reports that the examination of Chon Hyop, who is charged with being the principal actor in the alleged Daitongtan plot, has been opened in the Seoul Local Court.

In answer to questions by the Court, Choi admitted that he was an ex-convict, and stated that while in prison he contracted acquaintance with one of his fellow prisoners, Choi Ikhwan. He acknowledged that he afterwards met Choi in Manchuria several times and held an interview with him at Shanghai during 1918.

Accused also stated that they conferred with each other in regard to the recovery of independence for Korea, but tried hard to retract the greater part of his former evidence in the preliminary court concerning the charge that he had attempted to abduct and convey H. H. Prince Yi Kang abroad.

He alleged that the Prince fled from his palace through coercion of his fellow conspirators and himself but with the intention of leading a free and dissipated life by casting in his lot with the "Provisional Government" of Shanghai.

Chon affirmed that after a declaration of independence had been issued by Son Phyongheui and his followers he organised in Seoul his Daitongtan plot with a view to recovering political independence for Korea and embracing Socialism.

MALAYA TRIBUNE TELLS OF RUBBER SLUMP

Altogether, we are tempted to think that the present utter depression in the rubber world is but the darkness that precedes the dawn, and that more prosperous times are nearer than most people are prepared to believe. And if the slump should see a thorough elimination of the parasitic speculators who are the most unhealthy factor in the industry, then it will not have been without its beneficent consequence. —Malaya Tribune.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per Head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filing with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.
